

Content Management

Star Weaver Farm had outgrown their original website provider. They had originally purchased a 20 page website builder site from a well-known company. However, they quickly found out that the limitations inherent in such build-it-yourself sites were making it difficult for them to create the site that they wanted.

We were able to customize a template that Star Weaver Farm had found to suit their needs and build it all around one of the top open-source content management systems. The result is a fully editable site with none of the limitations of their previous provider.
